Dear our lovely Year 6 pupils,

As SATs week arrives, it's not quite the same
The tests have been printed; they just never came.
The classroom stands empty – just displays on the walls
But Year 6 is different this year in so many schools.

Fractions, percentages and times table drills
Inference, retrieval and endless reading skills
The grammar and spelling almost had us in tears
You've been preparing a LOT over so many years.

Don't worry, the SATs won't happen this term
Besides, they're not a true measure of all that you learn.
Laughing and joking, PE and art,
Your friends, break and lunchtime make up most of your heart.

Whether you're happy, relieved or a little bit sad,
Don't think of the testing, remember good times we've had.
We know your true talents – the things in which you excel
We know who's confident, who's caring, who is creative as well!

There are so many things for which you've tried your best
For some of you, adapting to Seesaw has been a test!
But don't forget there are skills from this year that you've learned and you've grown,
Both learning in school and learning from home!

Stand tall and remember the people you've wowed!
While we all stay at home keeping safe, know that I'm proud.
Year 6, you've amazed us in coming so far,
SATs or no SATs, shine like the stars that you are.

Miss Francis
